

ARE YOU COMPETENT UNDER UK REGULATIONS TO USE PESTICIDES APPROVED FOR PROFESSIONAL USE?

UK regulations and related Codes of Practice require that pesticides approved for professional use should only be used by trained and competent professional users.

We remind you of this and ask you to ensure that anyone who uses a professional pesticide product bought from us has the appropriate certificate of competence, unless, they are exempt from the requirements of the UK legislation.

If you wish to purchase a professional pesticide product, and you are not known to us as a professional user, then you may be asked to produce either:

A City & Guilds Certificate of Use (PA1/2/6 etc).

A current National Register of Sprayer Operators (NroSo) or National Amenity Spray Operator Register (NaSoR) membership certificate.

If you do not hold the above qualifications (and there is no reason for an exemption under the UK Regulations), you may have to prove relevant training, use a competent spraying contractor (e.g. Amenity Assured) or apply the product under the supervision of a trained and qualified operator.

It is in your interest to obtain the relevant training certificates and we can supply the necessary information.

We accept no liability whatsoever for any injury or damage to persons or property where a product purchased from us is applied by a person without the prescribed qualifications and/or not in accordance with the manufacturer's instructions supplied with the product.
